THE ATTACK ON EGYPT.

All German Tricks Fail.

[Reuter's Service to The "Telegraph."]

August 8, 1.00 p.m.
Special correspondents, in describing the last phase of the Turkish attack in Egypt, state that all the German tricks failed.
A Turkish officer who was captured admitted that our machine-guns were terrible and that they cut down the men like reaping corn. He marvelled that any escaped.
The Turks were scattered far and wide in small parties. The brunt of the fighting was borne by mounted Aussas, who have done splendidly.

In Contact With Turkish Rearguards.

August 8, 2.20 p.m.
General Murray reports that mounted troops are coming in contact with the Turkish rearguards six miles to the east of Katia, where the enemy was entrenched at the beginning of his advance.
The work of clearing the battlefield is proceeding. A quantity of rifles and other war material is being brought in, and so far 200 of the enemy's dead have been buried in the area over which the counter-attack passed on the 4th inst.
An aeroplane bomb attack on Port Said and Suez did little damage. The casualties were slight.

PORTUGAL AND THE WAR.

August 8, 2.20 p.m.
Reuter's correspondent at Lisbon states that at an extraordinary session of Congress, Senhor Costa (Minister of Finance) and Senhor Soares (Minister of Foreign Affairs) narrated the results of their visit to London, from whence they had just returned.
The Premier, in an incisive speech, eulogised the Allies and spoke in favour of Portuguese participation in the war.
A resolution was adopted approving of what the Ministers had done in London.

THE NEW ZEALAND PARLIAMENT.

August 8, 4.00 p.m.
Reuter's correspondent at Wellington states that both Houses have passed a Bill extending the life of Parliament for a year.

NO NEWS OF KUT PRISONERS.

August 7, 4.50 p.m.
In the House of Commons, Lord Robert Cecil stated that, notwithstanding repeated enquiries through the United States Embassy, the Government had not been able to ascertain the whereabouts of the Kut prisoners. The failure of the Porte to reply was most unsatisfactory and inspired considerable misgivings, as the prisoners were compelled to cross the desert at this season of the year.

THE LIFE OF PARLIAMENT.

August 8, 4.50 p.m.
In the House of Commons, Mr. Asquith promised to introduce a Bill on the 14th inst. prolonging the life of Parliament, and to announce the Government's proposals in regard to registration.

THE TROOP TRAIN DISASTER.

August 7, 4.50 p.m.
In the House of Commons, Mr. Chamberlain stated that the wives and children of the Territorial Force who died in the train will be granted the same rates of gratuity as if the men were killed in action. He had proposed earlier, Mr. Orrell that the wives of the men who died in the train should be treated as if they were killed in action.

THE ALLIED OFFENSIVE.

The Enemy and Pozieres Plateau.

[Reuter's Service to The "Telegraph."]

August 8, 1.00 p.m.
Reuter's correspondent at Paris states that the importance which the enemy attached to the recapture of the plateau at Pozieres may be gauged from an Army Order which was circulated on the eve of the furious counter-attack. This Order stated that the position must be regained, whatever the price.
Details of the futile attack show that there were to be successive waves at intervals of a hundred yards, and that individuals or detachments not resisting to death would be immediately court-martialled.

British Pushing Forward.

August 8, 4.30 p.m.
General Sir Douglas Haig, in a communique, says:—Last night the British pushed forward to east of Trones wood, and fighting on the outskirts of Guillemont is proceeding.
The enemy did not renew his fruitless attacks to the north and the east of Pozieres, but he is maintaining a heavy bombardment on this front and also on other portions of the battle area.
We drove back a bomb attack to the east of the Leipzig salient. Parties raided the German lines and blew up dug-outs to the north of Rolincourt.
Ten enemy aeroplanes, while endeavouring to cross our lines on a bombing expedition, were cut off and scattered by four of our patrols. Two of the enemy were forced to descend.

French Resist Strong Enemy Attack.

August 8, 4.30 p.m.
A Paris communique states:—A strong enemy attack from Fleury to the north of the Thiaumont work was checked on the way to Fleury with heavy losses, but the enemy gained a foothold in the Thiaumont work after a stubborn fight, which is still proceeding.
The communique continues:—While the British were attacking Guillemont we advanced on their right to the east of Hill 159, north of Hardecourt.
An attack on the trenches which we captured yesterday to the east of Monseu farm was repulsed with heavy loss.

French Confidence.

August 8, 10.45 p.m.
The French War Minister, replying to Mr. Lloyd George's message on the occasion of the second anniversary of the war, said:—"Decisive battles are progressing. We are attacking the enemy in perfect unity at a moment selected by us. The enemy will soon see his dream of domination vanish, and he will fall back on every front."

Anglo-French Air Raid.

August 8, 9.50 p.m.
The Admiralty announces that British and French naval aeroplanes raided Mulheim on July 30 and successfully bombed benzol stores and barracks, despite most heavy fire from anti-aircraft guns. All returned home again.

Sir Douglas Haig's Report.

August 9, 12.05 a.m.
Sir Douglas Haig, in a communique, says:—South-west of Guillemont, our line has advanced four hundred yards. The enemy made four attacks north-west of Pozieres; three failed, while the other enabled him to occupy fifty yards of a trench.
The Germans, in their attacks north-west of Pozieres, used flamethrowers. The enemy has shelled Longueval, High Wood and Pozieres heavily, and also the vicinity of Mametz. The day has been quiet elsewhere.

A GREAT RUSSIAN VICTORY.

August 8, 6.55 p.m.
A Petrograd official announcement says:—A great Russian victory has been secured south of the Dnieper, where we broke the enemy on a front of over sixteen miles.
We got across the Kolomoia-Sanislav Railway, capturing the heights beyond.
The prisoners include 2,000 Germans.
We are pursuing the enemy.
The official message recounts treachery by a party of Austrians who held their hands up. A Russian Battalion Commander was shot down as he approached to take the surrender, whereupon the whole party was slain.
The enemy rout to the south of the Dnieper has developed into a disorderly flight.
There are several cannon among the booty. Prisoners continue to flow in big batches, but the total cannot yet be ascertained.

THE ARMY ACT.

August 8, 1.00 p.m.
The House of Commons has passed the third reading of the Army Act Amendment Bill.

FAMOUS POLO PLAYER'S FATE.

August 8, 2.00 p.m.
The following is a list of the names of the players who were killed in the polo match on August 7th.

ITALIAN SUCCESSES.

[Reuter's Service to The "Telegraph."]

August 8, 10.00 p.m.
An Italian communique says:—The bridgehead at Gorizia is in our hands as a result of the capture of commanding mountain strongholds.
One of our ships dropped a ton of high explosives on the railway junction at Opitina. Anti-aircraft batteries and seaplanes hotly attacked the ship, but the latter reached home.
The captures made on Sunday and Monday are so far estimated at 8,000 prisoners, eleven guns and a hundred machine-guns.

PERSIAN AFFAIRS.

August 8, 2.00 p.m.
Reuter's correspondent at Petrograd states that the Anglo-Russian agreement on military organisation will be effected in Northern Persia by a development of the Persian Brigade and in Southern Persia by the formation of efficiently strong contingents.

CABINET MINISTER RESIGNS.

August 8, 11.30 p.m.
The Right Hon. Arthur Henderson, President of the Board of Education, has resigned.

August 8, 11.25 p.m.
Mr. Henderson's resignation does not mean that there has been any trouble between himself and the Ministry. He has resigned simply because his Labour work prevents his devoting his time to education.

EARLIER TELEGRAMS.

THE ALLIED OFFENSIVE.

The Attack on Pozieres Described.

[Reuter's Service to The "Telegraph."]

August 7, 2.05 p.m.
Reuter's Special Correspondent says that the attack at Pozieres was delivered at the moment of sunset. Suddenly over a front of 2,000 yards the Australians and Britishers speedily cleared out the machine-gun nests which were the German's second line. The whole performance was most successful. The surprise operations occurred at a moment when the Germans were being relieved. Some were packing up and others taking off equipment. All bolted for the dugouts, in which many were bombed. The German artillery opened, killing numerous German prisoners. Three heavy night counter-attacks were heavily punished by a barrage of fire. Our men were elated at securing a commanding position enabling them to see the "Promised Land."

French Brilliantly Carry a Line.

August 8, 12.55 a.m.
A Paris communique says the French, in the afternoon, brilliantly carried a line of German trenches near Hem wood, east of Monseu Farm, capturing 130 prisoners and a dozen machine guns. The French further progressed south of Thiaumont, capturing machine guns. Numerous dead were found in the German trenches. The French carried more houses in the western part of Fleury.

Enemy's Determined Counter-Attacks.

August 8, 12.55 a.m.
General Sir Douglas Haig, in a communique, says:—North and north-east of Pozieres two enemy attacks, after a heavy bombardment, were repulsed.
North and north-east of Pozieres, after a heavy bombardment, the enemy delivered determined attacks on our new lines at four in the morning. They entered our trenches in some places, but were driven out with many casualties. Two strong attacks delivered at nine in the morning were likewise repulsed. A further feeble attack was repulsed at four in the afternoon. More prisoners were captured in minor encounters elsewhere, in which our bombers were successful.

ITALIANS CAPTURE MANY PRISONERS.

August 7, 10.15 p.m.
A Rome communique says artillery activity continues between the Adige and the Upper Isonzo. In the Montebelluna area we captured three guns, several dozen machine guns, a quantity of rifles and ammunition, and 3,000 prisoners, including a hundred officers. The Bersaglieri cyclists, after fierce hand-to-hand fighting, took a hill and repulsed violent counter-attacks.

RUSSIANS STILL PROGRESSING.

August 8, 3.50 a.m.
A Petrograd communique says the Russians in an important attack drove out the Austrians and Germans from the trenches in the Stokhod region, capturing two thousand prisoners and many guns. Violent fighting is proceeding in the Stokhod region. The Russians are making progress.

OBITUARY.

Admiral Kamimura.

[Reuter's Service to The "Telegraph."]

London, Received August 8.
Reuter's correspondent at Tokyo reports the death of Admiral Kamimura, Japanese Counselor at the Admiralty, who took a prominent part in the Russo-Japanese War.

[Admiral Kamimura was born in 1850 at Satsuma. He took part, as Captain, in the Russo-Japanese War of 1894-95, and visited Australia with a training squadron in 1903, in which year he was promoted Vice-Admiral. On the outbreak of the Russo-Japanese War he was appointed Commander-in-Chief of the 2nd Squadron, the ships of which sank the Barik and seriously damaged the Gromoboi and the Rossia in an encounter off the eastern coast of Korea on August 14, 1904, and later forced the Novik aground on Saghalien.]

SOLDIER-M.P. RETIRING.

London, Received August 8.
Lieut. General Sir Reginald Polo-Carew, Unionist M.P. for the Bodmin Division of Cornwall, is retiring from Parliament owing to ill-health.

OPIUM SMUGGLING AT GLASGOW.

London, Received August 8.
A Chinese sailor was fined £50, with the alternative of three months' imprisonment, at Glasgow, for attempting to smuggle opium.
The Procurator Fiscal said the authorities regarded opium-smuggling as an extremely serious offence, and the shipping trade was also anxious to suppress it owing to the heavy fines imposed on ships carrying opium.
Several other opium prosecutions are pending in Glasgow.

AUSTRALIAN ZINC.

British to take the place of Germans.

The Prime Minister of Australia, Mr. Hughes, introduced a deputation of zinc producers in Australia to Mr. Bonar Law to lay definite proposals involving a wide avenue of employment before the Government.
Mr. Hughes explained that the deputation owned and controlled all the zinc ores produced in Australia. The proposal he desired to lay before the Minister was Imperial in its scope and objects, and at the same time rested on sound business lines. It covered a proposal for the erection of smelting works in Britain, and involved the exclusion of German supplies after the war. The scheme, ready for adoption, provided for preferential treatment of the Empire's products, but also allocated a fair share of raw materials to France and Belgium.
The details of the scheme will be announced later. Mr. Bonar Law is to consider the proposal with a view to putting it before the Government.

From Sea Fight to the Front.
A very pleasing innovation of Sir John Jellicoe is his offer of hospitality in the Fleet to any officers home on leave from the front. Any officer on leave can have three days' hospitality on board a battleship, and if the Fleet goes to sea they can go with it. One lucky man from Flanders was in the foretop of one of our latest super-Dreadnoughts during the May 31 action, and went back to France with a great story to tell.

A Secret Council.

An Italian wireless message from a reliable source states that it has been ascertained that a secret council was recently held in Berlin, all ministers participating. The Imperial Chancellor stated: Our situation everywhere is serious. If all gets well we can resist for some months and if the people are satisfied with little we can hold out still the spring of 1917. We have no other means of saving the situation than by separating France from her allies.

and lasting about ninety seconds.
This is the second shock at Kaper this year, the first being on February 29th at 8.55 p.m., when two distinct tremors, running east and west, were felt. The shock experienced at Kaper on Thurs-of the occurrence asks if any of nearest seismograph is. Mr. Li Kim Chuan, of Klang, writes as follows: - A distinct earthquake lasting about three seconds was felt at about 11 minutes to 7 p.m. on the 27th July, 1916, while I was lying down in my bungalow reading at 1 1/2 mile, Sungai Binjai

GENERAL NEWS.

A Peace Movement in Germany. Berlin, July 7.—Numerous scientists, industrialists, and representatives of commerce and agriculture have formed a German National Committee, under the chairmanship of Prince von Wedel, with the aim of "awakening a uniform understanding of the German people for an honorable conclusion of peace which shall guarantee a secured future empire." In doing this, says the journal, all one-sidedness is to be avoided.

Mr. Ben Tillett's Appeal. Mr. Ben Tillett, speaking at Bristol last month, said the whole nation should fearlessly support the men who were fearlessly doing their duty on land and sea. Lord Kitchener, in building up new armies, knew what he was up against, and the hypocrites who attempt to efface his glorious memory were unworthy of the name of Briton. We must continue to produce vast quantities of material in all the centres of industry. Even now some of the people at home did not realise what we were up against. The best of the parsons are at the front, and anyone who went there, even parsons, got converted to Christianity. He wanted to see wealth conscripted as well as bodies. He wished the pacifists had seen, as he had, men suffering from the horrible brutalities of the Germans, especially gas-poisoning.

The Use of the Red Cross Emblem. As the result of consultations between the British Red Cross Society and the War Office rules dealing with the use of the Red Cross emblem have been issued. The use of the emblem on placards is regarded by the War Office as undesirable and can only be permitted on the understanding that such use is carefully watched and controlled. It must be limited to placards or notices issued by the Society or its affiliated subordinate branches for the purpose of raising funds for the Society. The use of the emblem in any form on private motor cars is prohibited even when those cars are being used for the conveyance of sick and wounded soldiers. Private houses which have been handed over to the military authorities for the reception of sick and wounded soldiers are entitled to fly the Red Cross flag when written authority for this purpose has been received from the War Office. In all cases where the Red Cross flag is flown over such establishments the Union Jack must be flown alongside it.

Mrs. Besant and "New India." Mrs. Annie Besant has been for the past few years conducting two newspapers in Madras—a daily, the Madras Standard and a weekly, New India. The latter has been, since last summer, the chief organ of the Home Rule for India League, of which Mrs. Besant is the founder and director. The Government of Madras, in May, called upon Mrs. Besant, under the Press Act of 1910, to deposit security for good behaviour in respect of New India to the amount of Rs. 2,000 (£133). When paying over the money Mrs. Besant pointed out that, in demanding the security, the Government had not intimated any specific cause of complaint against the paper. She added:—"I am aware that the Press Act does not impose on you this duty and I therefore make no complaint; but I assert that to withhold from me the knowledge of my supposed offence so that I may again commit it in ignorance and incur further penalties is a denial of natural justice. Notwithstanding this I deposit the security because it is only by its forfeiture that I can discover the nature of my offence by bringing the order of the forfeiture before the High Court." The money is subject to forfeiture upon a second offence, and the Government may then demand the maximum amount of security, Rs. 10,000.

REGULATION OF RICE MARKET.

Says the Japan Chronicle.—The regulation of the price of rice is not such an easy task as it may appear at first sight. Early last year the Government rather lightly attempted to sustain the falling prices in the rice market by buying up rice to the extent of 12,000,000 whenever it fell below the ¥15 level. Many people doubted whether the Government really meant to regulate the rice market by such a measure, for its possibilities of misapprehension were obvious. It was even suggested that the measure adopted by the Government was merely for the purpose of favourably influencing the landowners towards the Ministry in view of the general election then pending. Most probably this was the principal object the Government had in view, as otherwise it is scarcely conceivable that it should have resorted to this measure by means of an emergency Ordinance soon after the dissolution of the Diet. At any rate, the attempt proved to be an egregious failure. The Government came out of the general election victorious, but it has been a loser on the rice deal. Ten months ago the loss of the Government was estimated at about a million yen, and as the Government still seems to be holding the bulk of rice it has bought, its loss must have been increased by another half a million yen owing to the shrinkage of weight, storage, etc.

Taught by experience, the Government seemed to be convinced of the danger of trying to regulate the rice market in such a light-hearted manner, and appointed a Committee, consisting of a formidable array of all sorts and conditions of men, to make investigations into the problem of regulating prices. The Committee has been discussing the subject for some time past, and has now decided upon the measure to be adopted. These are divided into seven heads, namely: monetary accommodation by the Government at low interest, adjustment of the Customs tariff, encouragement of the export of rice, establishment of agricultural warehouses, readjustment of the rice market for spot delivery, alteration in payment of tax on rice fields, and attention to the means of increasing the consumption of rice. There is nothing particularly novel in what is suggested by the Committee, perhaps, except its recommendation to encourage the consumption of rice in different forms besides the ordinary boiled style. In fact, this method of increasing the consumption of rice has come into vogue in recent years and is steadily resorted to. Thus there is in the market at present rice soup, rice coffee, rice sembei, and other foods made of rice. There is also a considerable consumption of rice for industrial purposes. The Committee's idea is to substitute rice flour for wheat flour to as large an extent as possible. Further investigations in this direction may have the effect of substantially increasing the consumption of rice, considering the large quantity of wheat flour which is consumed in the form of cakes and other food.

In the first place, the Committee suggests that the Government should advance the necessary funds to the Hypothec Bank at less than 5 per cent, and allow the latter again to advance money to individuals on the security of rice. Secondly, Article 5 of the Customs Tariff Law should be revised, so that the Government may reduce the import duty on rice or temporarily suspend imposition when considered necessary. Thirdly, the export of rice should be encouraged by the lowering of freight on the subsidized lines as well as the railway freight between places of production and shipment. Next, the establishment of warehouses for the storing of rice is recommended, and the Government is asked to give protection for the establishment and maintenance of such warehouses by the grant of a cash subsidy, the remission of taxes and imports, and financial accommodation at low interest.

These are the principal suggestions of the Committee for the regulation of the rice market, and though some of the plans recommended may have more or less effect in regulating the market, the predominant idea underlying these measures is Government protection, which is regarded by the Japanese as a panacea for all ills.

Interests Cricketers.

Amsterdam, July 16.—A cricketing enthusiast on the staff of the Amsterdam Telgraaf writes that from the British interest at Groningen the best Dutch cricket teams have obtained some first-class members. One of the best teams, the Haarlem "Red and White," played five Englishmen in their last first class match—namely, Captain Gaye, Moore, Meakin, Dillon, and Adams; Williamson and Beside play regularly for the Hague Club. A very popular match to be played soon will be the English players' XI of Groningen against an XI of interested men of the Royal Naval Reserve.

at all improbable that in carrying out these suggested measures it may be found that somebody's business interests are thereby affected, whereas another Committee will recommend the Government to protect the threatened business interests and to the process will be carried out.

THE POLICE RESERVE.

NEW HEADQUARTERS OPENED.

His Excellency's Tribute to the Force.

The need has been felt for a long time past, by the men of the Hongkong Police Reserve, of a place as a headquarters, and today has seen the opening of a very fine set of rooms in Prince's Buildings, 100, Queen's Street, which will serve as both a club and headquarters for this large body of men. The idea of acquiring some such premises was first put forward by Mr. F. C. Jenkins, the D.S.P. (Reserve), and subscriptions were invited and freely forthcoming to make the scheme possible, with the result that a Club has been established of which the Police Reserve may well feel proud. There are no less than seven rooms, providing two rooms as a lounge, reading and writing rooms, a card and chess room, a games room, a cloak room with rifle rack, and also a bar. The whole of these have been nicely fitted up and the premises present a most pleasing and attractive appearance. In the lounge is displayed the Cup, known as "The Devil's Own," and a framed list of those who have generously subscribed towards the foundation of the Club.

The opening ceremony was performed this morning by His Excellency the Governor (Sir Henry May, K.O.M.G.) in the presence of a large attendance of officers of the Reserve and visitors. Among those present were the Hon. Mr. C. M. L. Messer, O.S.P., Mr. Ellis Kadoorie, the Hon. Mr. E. H. Sharp, K.C., the Hon. Mr. E. Pollock, K.C., Mr. T. F. Hough, Mr. F. C. Jenkins, and Inspector Gordon, Sim and Basil of the Police Force. Most of the officers of the Police Reserve were also present. His Excellency, who was accompanied by an Aide-de-Camp, was met by Mr. Jenkins.

In addressing the assembly, His Excellency said that he was very glad to have an opportunity of doing some small service to the Police Reserve, because the Police Reserve had done a very great service to the Colony and to himself. The Police Reserve was formed in February, 1915, when, owing to the outbreak of war, the Police force was in need of very great assistance, and here he would like to record the names of the first men who enrolled themselves in the force. As they could see to-day, that had far-reaching results. The following were the names of the first members:—Messrs. J. Arnold, J. H. Backhouse, G. T. Bird, W. A. Butterfield, W. A. Eccles, E. H. Evans, A. Fothergill, W. H. Gaskell, O. Grimbly, A. Ireson, F. O. Jenkins, C. H. Kim, W. Knight, O. F. Mason, P. Maxwell, O. O. Moon, Eldon Potter, and J. W. Mitchell. From that small nucleus it had developed and grown into a force which now numbered 550 men. He had not occasion to see the force not many months ago on parade, when His Excellency the General Officer Commanding was also present, and the impression given to them both was a most favourable one; in fact, one could hardly credit that in so short a time so many men, who had had no previous instruction in military training, could have made so good a show. He had also seen the men at the rifle butts and he should be sorry for any German head that had been there in place of the targets as knocked about by the winning team in record time, time that could not have been beaten by any regular troops. The force was formed into four Companies, No. 1 consisting of European and Indians, No. 2 of Portuguese, and Nos. 3 and 4 of Chinese. There was one characteristic about the force, and that was the harmonious manner in which the various races, with which it was composed worked together. He thought that in that they had taught the spirit of the Hongkong Police Force, with which he had the honour of being associated for nine years, for their one outstanding characteristic was the splendid team which pervaded the whole of the force, which was maintained not only by its commissioned officers but by that splendid body of men who held the responsible position of Inspectors of Police. He prided himself on knowing something about Police Forces. He was, in his younger days, attached for some months to one of the finest police forces of the world—the Royal Irish Constabulary, which, during the recent tragic events in Ireland, had won very great credit and had added further laurels to its already proud record. He also had some knowledge of the police force of Liverpool and a smattering of the London Metropolitan police force, and he had looked critically at the police forces of Ceylon and Singapore, and, of course, he knew something about the police force of Fiji. The Hongkong Police Force could compare favourably with any one of them, and it was a real pleasure to him to see that this younger force was working harmoniously with the elder force, and had caught on something of the fine tone which animated it. As he had already mentioned, the Reserve force was organised into four Companies, and was organised, like the military system, into platoons. It possessed an ambulance platoon, a motor patrol section and a mounted troop, and a maxim gun; and it patrolled not only on land but on the water. Last, but not least, it possessed what promised to be a very fine band. Now with bands, again, he claimed to have had some experience, for he established a band which was not only one of the best in Ireland but also one of the finest in the United Kingdom, and they who lived here so close to the Philippine Islands knew that the Constabulary band of the American possession won the second prize at Philadelphia in a competition which was open to all the bands of the world. That was a pretty fine record; he forgot who won the first prize, but he thought it was under the condonance of Mr. Sousa. They in Hongkong could hardly hope to emulate a record like that, but, as a great lover of music, he was looking forward to the day when the Police Reserve Band would be at any rate one of the best in the Far East (Applause).

Now the Police Reserve had done very fine work in the Colony and was still doing that work. Every night there had been some fifty patrolmen sent out to every police district in the City and Kowloon, except the Peak, and the men had also done very useful patrol duties on the harbour. He did not want to put forward any names of that force who had contributed especially to that splendid organisation, for it would be invidious to do so where all had worked so well together. He would like to say one word concerning the great assistance which the Chinese community had rendered to the force. When it was first formed, some influential and generous Chinese residents made themselves responsible for the uniforms of the Chinese members and were still doing so. In these hard times he was very grateful to accept that generosity. They all had uniforms now, but there was a time when the European Indian Companies had to do duty in mufti. There had been very many benefactors of the force; and he would like to mention the military authorities in the Colony, who had lent them the rifles and other equipment and assisted the force in other ways. They should also remember the Navy, who had lent them the maxim gun. He would like to record their thanks to Dr. Thomas, of the Tung Wah Hospital, who had done very good work as Surgeon Inspector in the examinations of the Ambulance Section, and he would also like to thank the Standard Oil Company and the Asiatic Petroleum Company for keeping the motor patrol in petrol, which was a pretty expensive commodity these days. Then a number of leading citizens helped a great deal, and among these he would like to mention his old friend, Mr. Ellis Kadoorie, who had given them some ponies for the Mounted Section, and the Jockey Club had treated them very handsomely in the matter of the upkeep of the ponies at the Jockey Club Stables. Dr. Hodge and others had generously formed a fund to cover

GERMANY TRYING TO BORROW.

Large Profits Offered to Private Lenders.

Amsterdam, June 22. — Mr. L. F. Van Oos, chief editor of the Nieuwe Financier en Kapitalist, who is not known in Throgmorton-street, reveals in his paper that Germany is trying to raise large sums in Holland from private people.

Germany has had but small success, too, in her endeavours to raise money from private capitalists. A letter reproduced in the Nieuwe Financier states that the writer wants to borrow a sum up to one hundred million guilders, repayment to take place within 12 months after the conclusion of peace between Germany and Great Britain, with interest at six per cent. per annum, the security being German bonds with a market-value of 120 per cent. of the loan granted, and, if desired, a notary's guarantee of one to four leading German banks as to the payment of interest and principal.

Further, the lender and borrower will divide between them, on equal terms, the profit which may be made on the transaction. The expenses of the Mounted Section. He did not know whether he had left anybody else out, but if he had done so he would remember them in his prayers. (Laughter).

Coming to the particular occasion for which they were met, he appreciated the honour of opening those rooms which would serve as a Headquarters Club. Again a number of Chinese gentlemen had been of very great assistance in providing the necessary funds and also countrymen of his, one of their leading legal luminaries—Mr. Eldon Potter—had put his hand very deeply in his pocket for the same purpose. He was very proud of his countryman in that connection. They had accommodation for two rooms as a lounge, a reading room, a writing room, a card and chess room, a games room and a cloak room with rifle rack and also a committee room, and last of all a bar. (Laughter). Personally he hated bars in Clubs, but this was a bar which was showing an example to all other bars in the Colony in several particulars. For instance, the sale of alcoholic liquors was restricted to within the hours of 12.30 p.m. and 2 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. Another very wholesome rule governing this bar was that there would be no chits and no "treating." He thought those were two very excellent rules. As an old resident he could tell them that untold mischief had been wrought in various clubs of the Colony through the pernicious system of treating. If a man wanted a drink, let him go and have it, but the system of about ten men collecting and having drinks all round led to a lot of things that a man would be better without and led to the swallowing of a great deal more alcohol than a man wanted. He hoped that rule would be kept up. It was in conformity with the spirit of Empire at Home that "treating" should be abolished, and the system of no chits was also perfectly sound. He had known many young men suffer through giving chits. A man with the best memory could not keep a running account in his head and know exactly where he stood. Light refreshments and non-alcoholic drinks were to be obtainable at practically all times. His old friend, Mr. Stubb, had presented a billiard table which had not yet been fitted up, but no doubt that would soon follow. No subscription would be asked from the members at present, but a small monthly subscription would be asked for later, when they had become familiar with the benefits. They were all very grateful to all who had assisted in the acquisition of these rooms, and he had not the slightest doubt that they would be a great help to the Police Reserve as a meeting place and for recreation. He wished the Reserve every possible good fortune in the use of those handsome premises. (Applause).

The company then inspected the sale of "ponies" and "treating" was very much

LOG BOOK.

Scandinavian Shipping.

It is reported from Stockholm that a large Swedish Sea Insurance Company is being formed at Gothenburg, with a capital of 3,000,000 kroner. Some of the largest ship-owners in the country are the chief movers in the concern. The formation of this new company is mainly due to the difficulties experienced in covering sea insurance risks in Sweden, but also to prevent insurance premiums going to foreign countries. The "Bergens-Atenblad" says:—As far as can be judged, the taxable income from Bergen shipping for 1915 will be fully 80,000,000 kroner. For 1914 the income-taxed was only 39,000,000 kroner. There will be no reduction in the tax percentage, but the opportunity will be taken of providing large sums for communal purposes. Rederiaktiebolaget Svenska Lloyds Gothenburg is increasing its capital from 1,947,500 kroner to 5,842,500 kroner by the issuing of 1,947,500 new shares of 500 kroner each at par.

Purchased by Robert Dollar Company.

The British steamer Strathdale, which has been purchased by the Robert Dollar Company for its trans-Pacific trade, has been registered at the port of Victoria. Other steamers of the company having Victoria as their port of registry are the Bessie Dollar and Hazel Dollar. Since the much-cried American seamen's law became effective all the remaining large steamers of the Robert Dollar fleet have been transferred to the British flag and operated between British Columbia and Vladivostok. Capt. Robert Dollar's attitude over the passage of the seamen's act is well known, and just as soon as the measure became law he disposed of a number of his ships and changed the flag of the others. The Strathdale was purchased some time ago by Capt. Dollar for the Vancouver-Vladivostok trade and she is now crossing the Pacific from the Siberian port. She is a steel screw steamer of 4,377 tons gross and was built in 1910 at the Dumbarton yards of Messrs. A. McMillan and Sons. Her dimensions are length 878.6 feet; beam 52.2 feet; depth 25.5 feet. She was formerly registered at Glasgow. — "Vancouver World."

Spanish Shipping.

According to the latest statistics, nineteen vessels of the Spanish merchant marine, having a total tonnage of 67,700 tons and delivered during 1915; seven vessels of 26,800 tons were sold but not delivered; and ten vessels of 35,020 tons were lost; making a total of thirty-six vessels of 130,520 tons. During the year, seven vessels, having a total tonnage of 35,700 tons were added to the Spanish merchant marine by purchase or construction, which brings the total reduction in the number of merchant vessels under the Spanish flag to twenty-nine, vessels, and the tonnage to 95,820. U. S. Shipping Bill Amendments.

Washington, July 7.—Democratic and Republican members of the Senate Commerce Committee came to a parting of the ways to-day in so far as any prospect of an agreement over the Government Shipping bill is concerned. Democratic Senators declared it would be impossible to draft a bill to build up the merchant marine, which Republicans would accept without sacrificing every principle in the House bill, for which the Administration stands. The problem facing the Democrats now is to frame a measure commanding unanimous party support and to force a vote on it despite the determined Republican opposition. Such a course will tend, leaders realise, to prolongation of the session. Democratic Senators will caucus again to-night on the bill. Amendments being considered by the Committee include a provision eliminating the Secretaries of the Navy and Commerce from the proposed shipping Board, modifying the Government ownership and operation feature of the House measure, and a plan to make the naval auxiliary scheme the dominant feature of the bill.

THE BRITISH "PUSH."

Charges to the Skirt of the Pipes.

The Daily Chronicle Special Correspondent, Mr. Philip Gibbs, writes as follows:—

Press Camp, July 2.

It is possible now to get something like a clear idea, though nothing like an historical narrative, of the fighting which began yesterday morning at 7.30, when the furious tempest of our guns passed farther over the German lines and our infantry left their trenches for the great adventure.

The battle goes on, with success to our arms. Fricourt, partly surrounded yesterday, was taken by assault to-day, and a German counter-attack upon Montauban was repulsed with losses that forebode into the enemy's ranks. Prisoners come tramping down in batches, weary, worn men, who have the gallantry to praise our own infantry and remember with a shudder the violence of our gunfire.

Wounded men who are coming out of the fighting lines ask one question, "How are we doing?" Men suffering great pain have a smile in their eyes when the answer comes, "We are doing well." The spirit of our men is so high that it is certain we shall gain further ground, however great the cost.

Fought to Win.

The ground we have already gained was won by men who fought to win, and who went "all out," as they say, with a heroic enthusiasm to carry their objective, quickly and utterly and cleanly. This wonderful spirit of the men is praised by all their officers as a kind of new revelation, though they saw them in trench life and in hard times.

"They went across toppily," said a wounded boy of the West Yorkshires, who was in the first attack on Fricourt. "The fellows were glorious," said another young officer who could hardly speak for the pain in his left shoulder, where a piece of shell struck him down in Mametz Wood. "Wonderful chaps," said a lieutenant of the Manchester. "They went cheering through machine gun fire as though it were just the splashing of rain. They beat everything for pluck except their own officers, who, as usual, led their men forward without a thought of their own risks."

The attack on Montauban was one of our best successes yesterday. The men were mainly Lancashire troops, supported by men of the Home Counties, including those of Surrey, Kent, Essex, Bedford and Norfolk. They advanced in splendid order straight for their objective, swept over the German trenches, and captured large numbers of prisoners, without great loss to themselves.

British Guns Havoc. Their commanding officers were anxious about a German strong point called the Briquerie, or brickfield, which had been full of machine guns and minewarfare, and the original intention was to pass this without a direct attempt to take it.

But the position was found to be utterly destroyed by our bombardment, and a party of men were detached to seize it, which they did with comparative ease. The remainder of the men in those battalions went on to the ruined village of Montauban and, in spite of spasmodic machine-gun fire from some of the broken houses, carried it in one great flood of invasion.

Large numbers of Germans were taking cover in dug-outs and cellars, but as soon as our men entered they came up into the open and surrendered. Many of them were so cowed by the great bombardment they had suffered and by the waves of men that swept into their stronghold that they fell upon their knees and begged most piteously for mercy, which was granted to them.

The loss of Montauban was serious to the enemy, and they prepared a counter-attack, which was launched this morning, at 3 o'clock, at a strength of two regiments. Our men were expecting this, and had organized their defence. The Germans came on in close order, very bravely, rank after rank advancing over the dead and wounded bodies of their comrades, who were caught by our machine-gun fire and rifle fire and mown down. Only a few men were able to enter our trenches, and these died. Montauban remains in our hands, and so far the enemy has not attempted another attack.

Scots' Great Charge. Our line winds round the village in a sharp salient which drops south-eastwards to Mametz, which is full of German dead and of wounded, who are being found in the cellars and taken back to our hospitals. It was in the taking of Mametz that some of the Gordons suffered heavily. With English troops they advanced across the open with elated arms.

"Suddenly," says one of their officers, "a machine-gun opened fire upon us point blank, and caught us in the face. I shouted to my men to advance at the double, and we ran forward through a perfect stream of shattering bullets. Many of my poor boys dropped, and then I fell and knew nothing more for awhile. But afterwards I heard that we had taken Mametz, and hold it still. My Gordons were fine, but we had had luck."

It was the fire of German machine-guns which was most trying to our men. Again and again soldiers have told me to-day that the hard time came when these bullets began to play upon them. In spite of our enormous bombardment there remained here and there, even in a front trench, a machine-gun emplacement so strongly built with steel girders and concrete cover that it had defied our high explosives.

Their Wonderful Men. A young officer of the Northumberland Fusiliers paid a high tribute to them. "They are wonderful men," he said, "and work their machines until they are bombed to death. In the trenches by Fricourt they stayed on when all the other men had either been killed or wounded, and would neither surrender nor escape. It was the same at Loos, and it would not be sporting of us if we did not say so, though they have knocked out so many of our best."

While the attacks were being made on Montauban and Mametz very hard fighting was in progress on the left, or western, side of our line, from Gommecourt downwards. So far I have heard very little of the action at Gommecourt, where the German salient was most difficult to assault owing to formidable defences. In that direction our progress has not been great.

Further south at Anthuille and Ovillers and La Boisselle our attacks were rather more fortunate, and some ground was gained with great loss in life to the enemy, though not without many casualties to ourselves. Fortunately, as in all this fighting, the proportion of lightly wounded men is wonderfully high. One of the officers of the Suffolks who fought on the way to Contalmaison tells me that he was on the battlefield for 24 hours until he was wounded and carried away, and in that time, in spite of very heavy fighting, he saw only one dead man among the British troops engaged.

The advance past La Boisselle to Contalmaison was a splendid and memorable thing. The men who took part in it were hard, tough fellows who fear neither man nor devil, nor engines of war. They went forward cheering, and the Tyneside pipers played on their men. The German guns were flinging Jack Johnsons over, but they did not inflict much damage, and the men jeered at them.

"Silly old five-point-nine crumps!" said a young officer to-day who had been among them. "They only made a beastly stink and the devil of a noise. It was the machine-guns which did all the work."

The machine-guns were enfilading our men from La Boisselle, and from the high ground above their bullets came pattering down in showers, so that when they hit men in the shoulder they came out at the wrist. They swept No Man's Land like a scythe.

No Gratuities! But our troops passed on steadily with fixed bayonets at parade step, not turning their heads when comrades dropped to right and left of them. They took the first line of German trenches which were blown to dust-heaps, with the bodies of the men who had held them. In the second line there were men still living, and still resolute enough to defend themselves. They were bombed out of this position, and our men went on to the third line still under machine-gun fire.

"It seemed to me," said a Lincolnshire lad, "as if there was a machine-gun to every five men." Without exaggeration there were many of these machines and they were served skilfully and terribly by their gunners. Beyond La Boisselle, which was pressed on one side, the fire became very intense. High explosives, shrapnel, and trench mortars ploughed up the ground.

"They threw everything at us except half-crowns," said a man of the Royal Scots.

It was the Royal Scots who charged with the bayonet into a body of German troops, and the other battalions advanced at the double and captured batches of men who had no more stomach for the fight.

Dorsets' Hard Fight. Further north of La Boisselle, in the neighbourhood of Anthuille, some hard fighting was done by some men of Dorset and Manchester with Highland Light Infantry and Borderers. They had an easy time over the front line, but when the second was reached had to engage in a battle of bombs with a large body of Germans. This resistance was broken down and when there was a show of bayonets the enemy surrendered. They were haggard men who had suffered like most of our prisoners from long hunger and thirst as our bombardment had cut off their supplies and broken the water pipes.

Further north again there was a severe struggle for the possession of Thiépval, which was once in our hands but is now again in the enemy's grip. At the moment of writing I do not know what troops first attacked and went through the village, but it is clear from all the evidence I can get that they passed beyond to a further objective without staying to clear out the dug-outs where Germans were in hiding or to search for all the machine-gun emplacements. The enemy came out of their hiding places and served their machine-guns upon the British troops who had gone forward.

A sergeant-major of the Manchester who took part in one of the attacks which followed each other in waves upon the Thiépval position, says that he and his comrades forced their way across the front trenches and had to walk over the bodies of large numbers of German dead, who had fallen in the bombardment. With his regiment he went forward into a wood known to the men as "Blight," and then fell wounded.

Machine-gun bullets and shrapnel were clashing through it with a storm of lead lopping off branches and ricocheting from the tree-trunks. The men stood this ordeal superbly, and those who were not wounded fought their way through towards the village. Some battalions working on the left of Thiépval had a very severe ordeal. One of them, wounded, told me that they seized the first system of trenches in the face of machine-gun fire and captured the men who remained alive in the dug-outs.

Dug-Outs De Luxe. They were deep dug-outs, going 30 ft. below ground, and in some cases, even at that depth, had trap-doors leading to still lower chambers, so that our bombardment had not touched them. Many of them were elaborately fitted and furnished, and were well stocked with wine and beer. A great deal of correspondence was found and sent back to our lines in sand-bags.

It was when our men advanced upon the Thiépval woods that they had their hardest hours, for the enemy's fire was heavy, and they had to pass through an intense barrage. Meanwhile big fighting was in progress at Fricourt, and some of the North countrymen had a great ordeal of fire. They have done magnificently, and Fricourt is ours.

Other troops were engaged, for masses of men of many British regiments advanced on both sides of the village endeavouring to get possession of Shaler Wood, Lonsome Wood and the high ground to the north of the village.

MONTENEGRIN SENTENCED.

In Possession of Morphine.

Describing himself as an interpreter, and giving his nationality as Montenegrin, a man was charged before Mr. J. R. Wood at the Police Court this morning with having in his possession 16 oz. of morphine, valued at $8 per oz.

It was stated in Court that the man came to Hongkong from Shanghai by the Kamakura Maru and put up at the Seamen's Institute. Here a conversation was overheard, as a result of which his boxes were searched and morphine was found. In the conversation, an appointment was made near a dairy farm shop in Pottinger Street, and whilst defendant was there he was arrested. Defendant had been employed at Shanghai and was proceeding to Manila.

Defendant said he wanted to make a few dollars to help pay for his passage to Manila. A fine of $2,000 and two months' hard labour was imposed.

from the position known as the Crucifix. Large numbers of Germans were killed and wounded, but the garrison of Fricourt maintained a very stout resistance, and until this morning our attacks did not succeed in taking this stronghold, although it was nearly surrounded.

"Come on, My Lads."

Heroic acts were done by our men, as I know from the comrades who were with them. One boy of 18, to give only one instance, was so good a captain, although a private soldier, that when the officers of his platoon had fallen he rallied the men and led them forward. "Come on, my lads," he cried. "We'll get them out!" A pipe-major of the Royal Scots led this battalion forward to an old Scottish tune, and during the attack stood out alone in No Man's Land playing still until he fell wounded.

Early this morning a very fine flanking attack was made on Fricourt by the men who had held on to the ground during the night, and Crucifix trench was taken after the explosion of two big mines. The attack then closed in, one body of troops working round to the north and another fighting their way round the south side in order to get the village within a pair of lungs.

The operation succeeded and the village was taken, but fighting still went on to gain possession of the high ridge above. A whole company of German soldiers were seen to come suddenly across the open with their hands up. Other men struggled singly over the shell-battered ground to surrender to our men.

Position is good.

But the enemy's guns put up a heavy barrage of shrapnel and high explosives when our men tried to advance along the ridge, and from the upper end of the Fricourt Wood there came the incessant clatter of machine-gun fire. Our attack did not falter, and as far as I can learn the position to-night is good.

Here, then, are some scraps of fact about a great battle still in progress and covering a wide stretch of ground, in which many separate actions are taking place. It is impossible for an eye-witness to see more than a corner of these battlefields, and at this hour for one man to write a clear, straight chronicle of so great an adventure. I have been travelling to-day about the lines, trying to gather the threads together, talking to many of our fighting men, going among the wounded and the prisoners, and in the intense and immediate interest of this great drama of war which is all about me, trying to get at the latest facts of our progress from hour to hour.

But what I have written is only the odds and ends of a long, heroic story which must be written later with fuller knowledge of man and deed. Only one thing is really very clear and shining in all this turmoil of two days of battle—it is the unconquerable spirit of our men.

THE SITUATION IN CANTON.

Affairs Much Quieter.

Judging from correspondence received in the Colony this morning, matters have considerably quietened down at Canton and there has, presumably, been little or nothing in the way of hostilities since Monday night. It is reported among some Chinese here, whose information is usually reliable, that Li Lieh-kwan has received definite instructions from Peking not only to cease fighting, but to withdraw himself within three days of receipt of instructions, and set out for Yunnan. Another section, however, maintains that, in everything that he does, Shun Chuan-heu is acting on instructions from the President.

There are conflicting stories, too, as to the doings, whereabouts and intentions of Luk Wing-ting. Some Chinese hold the view expressed below by our Canton correspondent, while others say that he will never dream of attempting to come to Canton. At present it is understood that he is at Kweilin, the old capital of Kwangsi—somewhere about fifteen days' journey from Canton.

Our Canton correspondent writes under date of August 8 as follows:—

Meeting of the Charitable Institutions. In view of the present condition of Canton, a mass meeting of the members of the Nine Charitable Institutions was held with Mr. Chan Hung Lum Woo in the chair. He made a great speech in which he reviewed the shocking and pitiful state Canton is now in, all business enterprise being abandoned, the price of even daily necessities increased alarmingly, and many human beings shot down in cold blood. The monetary loss to the city is already beyond computation and if the trouble be not speedily brought to an end fire will complete the destruction of the place. He asked the meeting to appoint a committee to wait upon the warring generals and try to arrange a basis for pacification. The members of the committee appointed are Messrs. Chan Hung-lum, Chow Fan-yuk, Lee Ping-sun, Chan Hing-wen, and Lam Chek-fong.

Peking Gunboat. Negotiations are now proceeding concerning the arrival of the gunboat, Ho Yang from Peking. General Lung has ordered the Commander of the Fu Man forts to take all the guns and ammunition from the boat before allowing it to come to Canton. It is also reported that a boat coming with the express object of putting an end to the trouble will arrive to-day, the eighth.

Macao Fort. Attempts are now being made by the Tin Kwan to capture the Macao fort, one of the most important of Canton's defences. General Li Fuk-lam has been appointed commander to defend the fort. Nam Shek Tan, just outside the city, is also being assaulted, so far without success. Three captains and their forces have been sent to guard against the seizure of Pak Wan San, the possession of which would be of great advantage to the outside forces in their attempts to storm Canton.

Luk Wing-ting. It is stated that Luk Wing-ting has at last consented to come to replace Lung in Kwangtung. It is also asserted that General Lung will withdraw at once and that Tam Ho-ming will act for him until the arrival of Luk Wing-ting. This seems rather improbable in view of the other report that Lung has sent a message to the Governor of Fukien asking to send an army here to assist in repelling the invaders.

The T.K.K. Office. On and after the 12th inst. Mr. T. Dalgo will take charge of the Hongkong office of the T.K.K. Kien Kien in lieu of Mr. K. Doi, who has been transferred to the Company's Head Office.

MODERNISING TIN PRODUCTION.

In Yunnan Province.

Tin from the mines in the vicinity of Kotchiu forms the principal export of the Province of Yunnan. For the years 1912, 1913, and 1914 the amounts exported and their values were:— 1912, 9,222 tons, $8,428,600; 1913, 8,552 tons, $7,651,050; 1914, 7,483 tons, $5,124,160. Considerable quantities of this tin are shipped to Hongkong and thence to the United States. A report on these mines was prepared at the request of the American consulate at Canton by Mr. Frank K. Pilsen, of Yunnan-fu, who recently paid a visit to the district. He said:—

The Huang Moa Shan tract is the best known of the tin districts in Yunnan. It is about 13 to 20 miles in circumference, taking Kotchiu as the approximate. The deposits are of the class usually designated as decomposed or sand ore. Not much rock ore has been excavated, although it exists in many localities. These deposits have been worked by the primitive Chinese methods for upward of 200 years.

The surface ore is from one-thousandth to four-thousandths tin. This constitutes about three-tenths of the whole Kotchiu output and because of the poor grade requires a large amount of water for washing. The rainy season rarely lasts more than three months, and for lack of artificial means of conserving the water supply surface ore can be worked with profit only four or five months of the year.

The shaft ore runs from 2 to 20 per cent tin. Since it requires much less water, this branch of the industry may be carried on for six months of the year. The Yunnan Tin Trading Company conducts an entirely modern ore dressing plant and smelting works at Kotchiu. The ore dressing plant contains 5 tramways for first washing of low grade ore, 2 ball mills with 4 gigs each for grinding coarse ore, 1 large tube mill for grinding the finer ore, 52 washing tables of 3 models—the Wilder, the Ferraris, and the Drue Vanner—and 12 hydraulic classifiers. Small quantities of rock ore are being handled by the ball mills.

The smelting works contain 3 gas generators supporting 8 reverberatory furnaces, 3 refiners, and 1 blast furnace for handling slag. Each furnace has a capacity of 4 tons of ore per charge, each charge of course being mixed with sand and charcoal in proper parts, according to the grade of ore. The average requires 18 hours or from 12 to 30 hours, according to the grade of coal and to the purity of the ore.

The coal comes from the Yao Ko district. It is entirely transported by mules. The cost of coal at the mines is about $2.50 (Mexican), or about $1 U.S. currency, per ton, while the cost of the same article at the smelter, 20 miles away, is $18 (Mexican), or about $6.50 U.S. currency per ton. In spite of the cost of coal and the lack of water, it is claimed that the modern process accomplishes a saving of 10 per cent in metal as compared with the work of the native furnaces. There are about 200 native furnaces in the Huang Moa Shan region.

The smelting works cast the ingot in the iron mould, analyse and sell according to purity, but they also conform to the peculiar Chinese practice of casting in sand moulds. The ingot cast in the sand mould is not sold upon analysis, but the surface indications of the ingot form the basis upon which the purchase is made. Since the ingots from the sand moulds are not uniform in purity, this gives rise to a certain amount of speculation among the tin shops in Hongkong and Canton. The smelting company is aware that much of their metal which has been cast in the sand moulds at the smelter is recast in the iron moulds for foreign export, and they are anxious to deal direct with foreign buyers with a view to discontinuing the use of the sand mould.

The capacity of the Kotchiu smelting works is about 16 tons a day, but the native methods of mining and handling both the ore

FIRE-FLOAT COXSAINS.

Opium Possession Charge Falls.

Two coxsains of the No. 1 Fire Float were charged before Mr. F. A. Hazard this afternoon with being in possession of 18 pounds of raw opium in Co-naght Road Central, by Queen's Statue Wharf, on Saturday. Mr. Mattingley appeared to defend.

It appeared that a Chinese detective saw the men come ashore in a sampan, and, on searching a basket, he found the opium.

The story for the defence was that the men detected the opium being smuggled on shore from a small boat and went and seized it. Instead of giving it straight over to the police, they took it back on the float and were bringing it ashore to give to Sergeant Clark when they were arrested.

Evidence was given by Sergeant Clark to the effect that the men had been employed for nine years and one year respectively, and had been of good character. The first defendant had previously given information about opium-smuggling and had been instructed what to do should he see any more.

The first defendant deposed that he seized the opium as it was being landed and that the people who had it ran away. He waited for some time to see if a constable came near, but seeing none, he went back to the float with it. Whilst he was bringing it ashore again he was arrested.

The men were discharged.

The China Society. The balance-sheet of the China Society for the year 1915-16 shows that the funds in hand after the payment of all expenses amount to £191 11s. 8d., which is £30 larger than the balance of the previous year.

Chinese Labourers for France. The s.s. Marima Maru, which is the third ship contracted for by the French Government to carry Chinese labourers to France, has completed her loading of human cargo at Tientsin and has left for Marseilles. Fully 5,000 labourers are said to have been sent to Europe during June.

Entitled To Four Wives. The defence put forward at the Old Bailey on behalf of the Indian student, Abdul Hamid, who was charged with bigamy at Hampstead, was that according to the tenets of his faith men were entitled to the doubtful privilege of having as many as four wives. Sentence of two months' imprisonment was passed.

and the coal permits the smelter to operate only six months of the year and limits the daily output to about nine tons.

The works of the Yunnan Tin Trading Company have been in operation for five years. The plant employs about 110 men, with Mr. H. T. Chen, a graduate of the University of California, who spent eight years at school in the United States, as engineer in chief. Mr. Chen has a plan to carry an adequate supply of water across the neighbouring valley by means of a steel conduit supported by iron stanchions to the company's reservoir at the smelter, where it is proposed to erect a high power pumping station to lift 3,000 tons daily to a height of 2,700 ft. for the purpose of washing the low-grade ore in the Ma La K'eh district during the entire year. —Herald.

A STUBBORN FOE.

To conquer an obstinate enemy requires persistency and perseverance. It is the same with Rheumatism. The great foe of mankind, which ranks foremost in stubbornness. To eradicate it from the system, you must use the right weapon. LITTLE'S ORIENTAL BALM is the only remedy that can overpower it. It has cured helpless, crippled sufferers who have been discharged from the hospital as incurable.

Mr. W. Williams, Tottenham, Bristol, writes:—"For 3 years I have been rendered unfit for work by Rheumatism. At night terrible shooting pains ran up and down my spine, and I was unable to move. I could not sleep or move my arms. Two bottles of that wonderful remedy LITTLE'S ORIENTAL BALM cured me completely. I can now recommend it with almost a shudder." Sold at 1/6 per bottle. Agents for Hongkong, Messrs. A. & C. WATSON & Co., Ltd.
